

Activities such as counting one's blessings, writing letters of gratitude, and performing acts of kindness have been shown to reliably boost well-being.

-Shin et al., 2019

